

Itineraries for Group Visits to Sherwood Forest, Edwinstowe, The Dukeries & Laxton

Sherwood Forest - legendary stomping ground of Robin Hood, a former Royal Hunting Forest and possibly the most famous forest in the world. The North Nottinghamshire "Dukeries," created from this wide expanse of woodland and heath, were grand Victorian country estates – home to no less than four English Dukes. Today, the leafy and historic Sherwood Forest area is a great place for coach and group visits, from the sedate to the adventurous.

Suggested Day Itineraries

1. Rufford Abbey & Sherwood Forest

MORNING

Rufford Abbey & Country Park, Old Rufford Road (A614) NG22 9DF.
Tel. 01623 821338. www.ruffordabbey.com Open daily 10.00am to 5pm
(10.30am to 4.30 winter season) Free admission. Free coach & minibus parking.

Rufford began as a medieval monastery on the eastern edge of Sherwood Forest, home to a reclusive order of monks. By Edwardian times it had grown into a huge country mansion. Post-war neglect and mining subsidence ended its glory, but happily 150 acres of its former grounds was saved, to become one of England's first country parks.

Today the abbey ruins form the picturesque backdrop to a delightful park, complete with lake, woodland walks, and hidden historical features such as two Georgian Ice Houses. Shops, The House Cafe, and Lord Savile's Kitchen (carvery style restaurant) add interest for groups. Seasonal summer activities include rowing boats / pedalos on the lake, Adventure Golf, and "Have A Go" archery. Mobility scooter for hire (pre-booking recommended.) Park at the main Abbey car park, off A614. Allow 2-3 hours to explore the site.

Coach Drivers' Tip: Book your group in advance with the Coach House Cafe supervisor and claim a voucher for complimentary refreshments on day of visit.

LUNCH STOP: Robin Hood's Village of Edwinstowe

Take advantage of good value group menus and free coach parking at one of Edwinstowe's local eateries, before continuing on to Sherwood Forest Visitor Centre for the afternoon.

Edwinstowe

Just three miles from Rufford Abbey, and once enveloped by the medieval hunting forest of Sherwood. It's named after Edwin – an Anglo Saxon prince slain nearby in a fierce battle. In legend Robin Hood and Maid Marian were wed in the fine parish church. A bronze statue on the village street commemorates the famous pair, and the impressive parish church of St Mary's is said to be the place where the couple were wed.

From the 1920s, coal mining transformed a sleepy rural hamlet. Edwinstowe gained a pleasant variety of pubs, cafes and local shops, and some of the village history can be spotted on plaques by the local history society. A short stroll will still take you into the timeless realm of Sherwood Forest, home of Robin Hood and the mighty Major Oak.

The best-known attraction here is the Sherwood Forest Visitor Centre, managed by the RSPB. (Sherwood Forest, Edwinstowe, Mansfield NG21 9RN. Tel. 01623 677321) A striking modern building incorporates café, shop, toilets and information about the Forest and its wildlife. Check out the Robin Hood film posters in the café! Full visiting information at <https://www.visitsherwood.co.uk/plan-your-visit/>

Just across the way is Sherwood Forest Art & Craft Centre, Forest Corner, Edwinstowe, NG21 9RN. Tel: 01636 650000 - a useful free entry all-weather halt, featuring individual shops and workshops around a covered central courtyard. Open Tuesdays - Sundays from April to end Sept, 10am to 5pm (Wed to Sun, 10am - 4pm during winter season)

Across the road is Sherwood Forest Fun Park, Forest Corner, NG21 9QA. This traditional funfair operates daily through summer and school half terms (only) with rides and stalls ideal for younger children. Admission free (pay as you go token system for rides.)

AFTERNOON

'Forest Corner' near the village cricket ground is gateway to a network of paths in the best known (but by no means only) woodland area in Sherwood Forest.

Paths from Sherwood Forest Visitor Centre enable you to explore Birklands and Bilhaugh – two ancient 'hays' of Sherwood Forest, containing 900 twisted and hoary veteran oaks up to five centuries old. Star amongst these is the mighty Major Oak - a forest feature for 800 years. Sherwood's characteristic landscape features not just oak woodland but groves of slender silver birches and open heathland – today precious and threatened nature habitats. Moderate levels of walking required, but landscape largely flat.

Robin Hood is said to have haunted these leafy glades, waylaying rich travellers. For an entertaining and informative group tour, why not arrange a surprise Forest encounter with award-winning tour guide Ezekial Bone. ## 2. Sherwood Forest & The Dukeries

Four dukes once owned country estates in Sherwood Forest. In Victoria's day a sightseeing tour of "The Dukeries" by horse drawn coach and later charabanc was a favourite sightseeing tour for groups from Sunday schools to Miners' Welfares. Two of these great ducal mansions were lost to fire, taxation and gunpowder. One now houses a luxurious hotel, and one remains a private home, with a thriving estate celebrating art and artisan food. This itinerary gives a peep into the past and present of The Dukeries. Access Note: A good itinerary for less mobile visitors, as walking distances are modest, and buildings are almost all on ground floor level.

MORNING

4. Laxton: Open Fields & White Roses

A complete change of pace now. Off the beaten track in the quiet red brick and pantile village of Laxton, discover two unexpected gems. The first is a medieval survival unique in British landscape history. The second is a uniquely thought-provoking modern museum, exhibition & memorial garden commemorating the WWII Holocaust.

MORNING: Laxton Visitor Centre & Laxton Castle Earthworks

In feudal England, villages had two or three large open fields, often hundreds of acres each, divided into strips. Each family worked its allocated patch. The 18th century Enclosure Acts swept away strips and 'Commons,' creating the hedges, farms and private estates of our modern countryside. Laxton is one of the few places in Europe where the old Open Field system survives - complete with its own village court! Once a year at a "Court Leet" held in the village inn, the "Gaits & Commons" adjudicate on boundary disputes or infringements. Find out more at the small visitor centre located in the yard of the Dovecote Inn (free admission.) A short film is available (small charge.) Tel. 01777 871586. e-mail info@laxtonvisitorcentre.org.uk

Take a short stroll along the village street to admire the fine medieval church of St Michael the Archangel. Opposite, a footpath leads through fields to the earthworks remaining from Laxton Castle - a Norman motte and bailey which was once one of the administration centres for Royal Sherwood Forest. Absorb the quiet sense of history as you explore its grassy remains.

Bespoke Tours & Walks

Private guided walks and talks of Laxton can be arranged with local farmer and long serving “Clerk to the Gaits & Commons of the Court Leet,” Stuart Rose. Tel. 07939 228353, e-mail stuart.rose@laxtonnotts.org.uk

Two exhibitions - one for children, one for adults - sensitively document this most terrifying period of European history, and the experiences of its victims and survivors. Booked groups of 25 or more can arrange a talk by a Holocaust survivor - a moving and memorable experience.
